Report: Entrepreneurship Development Webinar – Break out of your shell

The Entrepreneurship development webinar was the first event organised by the Rotaract Club of Deviprasad Goenka management College of Media Studies ever since their installation for 2021-22 and was indeed a session from which the audience squeezed every drop of knowledge. The session was organised by the Entrepreneurship Development Avenue of RCDGMC and was anchored by the Board Of Director, Neha Jude, who gave a very hospitable welcome to the guest, Mr. Jaydeep Mandal, the founder of Akaar, an enterprise comprising Aakar Innovations and Aakar Social Ventures. Through Aakar innovations, they enable women to produce and distribute affordable, high quality, 100% compostable sanitary napkins within their community.

The stage was taken by Mr. Jaydeep, who began by giving a presentation delineating how Aakar was started more than a decade back when Mr. Jaydeep used to work with NGOs during his school & college days in West Bengal and how commercialisation helped in the process to set up sanitary pads machines and the challenges they faced in making the perfect sanitary pad. He also talked about what Aakar is currently indulging in. Aakar does not just sell menstrual hygiene products through Aakar Innovations, but also creates awareness on menstrual hygiene, sexual education, maternal health, gender, etc through Aakar Social Ventures. Aakar also keeps a balance of financial sustainability and environment in the manufacture of their products and other services. Mr. Jaydeep also gave a business perspective to the audience by introducing the basic business model, schemes, the accolades and recognition given to Aakar. The seminar then proceeded to a question & answers round. In the end, Rtr. Shubham Gosai proposed the vote of thanks and a group picture of the webinar was taken to end the meeting.

Event Report on Master class

Master class by Nand Kishor Rajput on The Relevance and Application of Law and Ethics in Today's Media

About the Master class

The aim of the session was to acquaint the students with the practical aspects of law and ethics within the framework of media.

The resource person for the Masterclass session was Mr. Nandkishore Rajput. He is a professional with dynamic experience as Lawyer, Accreditor, Mediator, Ornithologist and a Wildlife Photographer who has been in the field of media in sales and marketing for more than 23 years. It was felt by the organisers that this combination of media background and experience in litigation and activism would give an edge to the students in having an enhanced understanding of the topic at hand.

The Masterclass covered aspects that included legal behaviour, ethical behaviour and social behaviour, the dilemmas covered by ethics, various types of ethics such as meta ethics, normative ethics and applied ethics, relation between law and ethics. The session threw highlights on how some actions are unethical but legal and some are ethical but illegal. It also provoked students to think if law can promote ethical behaviour.

The Masterclass ended with the following words of Mahatma Gandhi, an eminent journalist himself:

“The sole aim of journalism should be service. The newspaper press is a great power; but just as an unchained torrent of water submerges the whole countryside and devastates crops, even so an uncontrolled pen serves but to destroy. If the control is from without, it proves more poisonous than want of control. It can be profitable only when exercised from within”.

Report on Master class

Master class by Nilesh Gavale on The Sense of Art

About the Master class

The Fine Arts Club of Deviprasad Goenka Management College of Media Studies organized a workshop for art enthusiasts – Sense of Art. The workshop was conducted by Mr. Nilesh Gavle, a painter whose art takes reality by surprise. The objective of the workshop was to expose the students to dynamic conversations and deepen their appreciation of any form of art.

Mr. Nilesh Gavle enthralled the participants by taking them on a virtual tour of his workshop. Students witnessed various things that underlie artwork and its creation. Then, Mr. Gavle proceeded to help students understand the core principles of creating art. He talked about sketching with a vision, clear workflow and how it helps you to build a solid foundation for creating a masterpiece.

The session addressed various forms of art and not just surface level things like “how to draw a head” or “how to paint a sky”. The workshop helped students get an in-depth background understanding of why an image looks good, and feels good to look at. The attendees will now look at topics with the right artistic mind set and a comprehensive set of skills

Objectives:

- To introduce participants to the different senses involved in experiencing art, such as sight, hearing, touch, and even taste and smell.
- To examine the relationship between sensory perception and emotional response to art, and how they contribute to our understanding and appreciation of art.
- To encourage participants to engage with art in a more sensory and experiential way, rather than just intellectual or conceptual.

Outcomes:

- Participants will have a deeper appreciation and understanding of the role of the senses in experiencing and creating art.
- Participants will be able to identify and describe how different art forms appeal to different senses and create different aesthetic experiences.
- Participants will be able to articulate how their sensory perception and emotional response contribute to their interpretation and appreciation of art.
- Participants will have a more embodied and sensory approach to engaging with art, which may enhance their overall enjoyment and understanding of art.
